

Proactive Protection Agency Workplace Violence Prevention Seminar

With special guest speaker

Chief of Police Steve Mclean

Highly Decorated Chief of Police
Former Swat Team Leader, Medal of Valor Recipient

Workplace violence has become a growing concern in both small businesses as well as large corporations. No business wants to be responsible for a violent act in the workplace that may have been preventable.

Workplace violence prevention training is designed to address both the theory and practical aspects of prevention and protection of individuals against violence in their working environment.

"Allen Banks Workplace Violence seminar was excellent. His seminar material is straightforward and realistic. I hope to bring Allen back for more training sessions in the future. He is a true professional."

Brenda M. CPP President & CEO Acufacts Security, Inc.

"I trust Proactive Protection Agency and Mr. Allen Banks to deliver this valuable training. Allen is a first class professional who has a passion for teaching and delivering this course in a professional and practical manner. To me, Allen's Course on Workplace Violence prevention is as good as it gets. I enthusiastically endorse and recommend this course to anyone who wants to implement a Workplace Safety Plan."
