

Yates Industries Is Stepping It Up at the IFPE Show

ST CLAIR SHORES, MI | On March 7-11th, Yates Industries will be in Las Vegas showcasing at one of the largest fluid power construction shows in the U.S. - The International Fluid Power Exposition (IFPE). Held every three years and attended by over 130,000 people, this will be Yate's fourth time consistently attending and presenting as one of the leaders in the fluid power industry. They recognize this show as an excellent opportunity to connect with their existing clients, as well as opening themselves up to new ventures with other companies. Yates Industries began in 1972 with the goal of providing exceptional products with superior customer service. Nearly 45 years later, they have skyrocketed to be featured on the television show The World's Greatest Cylinder Companies.

The current marketplace and economy are in a general state of growth and excitement. Yates is feeling it! To demonstrate their own growth, they will be arriving with a crew of exceptionally knowledgeable and innovative staff - including the CEO, Vice President, National Sales Manager, and several Regional Sales Managers from across the country. They will also be demonstrating their strength and durability with a new cutaway of their Mill Duty series. Adding to their current Tie Rod and Mill Duty lines, Yates launched their own line of Welded cylinders to give them three core products. With the addition of the Welded Line, Yates is also now a complete OEM provider.

Yates is not just a manufacturing facility, but also a full service repair facility, with service available 24/7 in the largest and most complete repair facility in the Midwest. They have firmly put their stamp on the industry and continue to grow and expand. This is proven with the Georgia facility now even offering its own product line.

So swing on by to see the Yates team, and have a beverage on them at their special Yates branded booth - #S82429. They will be easy to spot in the main aisle way. Yates Industries looks forward to demonstrating their capabilities to both large national companies and smaller regional companies at the IFPE show. The place to be in March is Vegas.
