The Writer Names FWO-Int'l Tops at #1 Spot

The Freelance Writing Organization International (FWO-Int'l) [url]http://www.fwointl.com[/url] of Toronto, Canada, has the honourable distinction of being named #1 in the Top 25 Best Writing Resource Sites List by The Writer Magazine - September, 2005 Edition

/24-7PressRelease/ - TORONTO, ON, CANADA, September 02, 2005 - The FWO-Int'l has long been recognized as an enormous and successful amassment of writing resource links and accumulated information vital to today's writers, authors, editors and publishers.

The announcement by The Writer reaffirms the belief that the writing industry needs a centralized, easy-to-use, up-to-date system of resources to support the creative process. Something that only the FWO-Int'l successfully provides without charge through the operation of a massive, online writing resource database.

Their site hosts literally thousands of writing resources and writing links in a high speed, mySQL database sectioned into 40+ genres. They are the publishers of the latest writers' "how-to" monthly ezine, Inkwell Newswatch (IN) Writing and Literary Ezine for Writers as well as the weekly emailed newsletter Writers Site News! Plus, the FWO-Int'l offers information on: funds for writers, job listings and employment opportunities, education, news, submission calls, agents, publishers, a research library and much more.

The Writer Magazine's Recognition joins an ever-increasing list of other awards that this exemplary web site has achieved over the years, including:

- Writer's Digest Top 101 Best Writer's Site
- Multiple Golden Web Awards
- a Diamond Web Award,
- Inscriptions Writer's Magazine Link Award,
- TuDogs Top Library Resource Rating,
- IAWMD Web Masters and Designers Award,

and a host of other honourable and nominated mentions.

The mission statement of this web site appears to be an enormous undertaking however, with Site Manager Rowdy Rhodes' direction and skilled hands-on management abilities, the FWO-Int'l is living up to its self-imposed obligation:

"To build the world's largest, free, online writing resource links database system available on the Internet."

Any mention you could give us in your form of media would be greatly appreciated.

Interviews are welcomed.
