

Press Release Contact Information:

Scot Blackburn
Brain Chain Games, Inc.
President
Los Angeles, California
USA
E-Mail: Email us Here
Website: Visit Our Website

GAMES Magazine Names Brain Chain a Top 100 Game

The educational strategy-meets-trivia board game, Brain Chain, was named one of the top 100 board games for 2007 by GAMES Magazine. Brain Chain was included on the GAMES list as a terrific party game.

/24-7PressRelease/ - LOS ANGELES, CA, February 09, 2007 - GAMES Magazine annually publishes a list of the 100 top traditional games. Brain Chain Games, Inc., makers of exceptional and unique trivia products, announces that it has been awarded the prestigious GAMES Magazine Top 100 Award for its flagship party game, Brain Chain. Since the announcement of the award, Brain Chain has secured a number of new distributors, including Biffley's, Curio City Online, Funagain Games, Special Gifts, and other great game retailers and gift sellers.

"We are tremendously excited to add these high-quality retailers to our line-up," states J. Scot Blackburn, President and Chief Executive Officer of Brain Chain Games, Inc. "We are also in negotiations with a host of other e-tailers and retailers which we expect will provide Brain Chain Games, Inc. with new opportunities and allows us to reach many additional markets."

"We have spent a substantial amount of time, energy and money in creating and promoting a terrific game," says Kris Harter, Executive Vice President of Brain Chain Games, Inc., "and are humbled and honored by being named to the Games Top 100 list." Harter continues, "By making the list we have been exposed to many customers we could not have otherwise have reached and the positive emails we are receiving from our fan base is amazing. People are really excited about a trivia game where strategy can overcome deficits in a player's knowledge base."

"Brain Chain is the ideal game for family- and party-play," says Alicia Vaz, one of the game's creators. "The questions are easier and more mainstream which ensures that everyone will be able to get some of the answers correct and the broad and diverse trivia categories mean that everyone can positively contribute to their team's success."

Brain Chain is owned and distributed by Brain Chain Games, Inc. and can be purchased at Biffley's, Curio City Online, Funagain Games and other fine retailers.

Scot Blackburn can be reached at SBlackburn@BrainChainGames.com.

More information about Brain Chain can be found at its website www.BrainChainGames.com, at its blog site at <http://brainchaingames.blogspot.com>, and featured in Wikipedia at http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Brain_Chain.

About Brain Chain Games, Inc.

Brain Chain Games, Inc. is a California Corporation and the owner of Brain Chain, the strategy-driven trivia game. Brain Chain Games Inc. also holds and maintains all intellectual property rights in Brain Chain, its questions, its unique "business" and "oddball" categories, and in all of its distinctive artwork.