One of Roadtrips' most popular packages, the Baseball Hall of Fame Tour gives travelers the opportunity to visit four major league parks and the Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum in Cooperstown, NY. The six-day Hall of Fame Tour runs from July 28 to August 1 and includes a behind-the-scenes tour of Yankee Stadium, a visit to Cooperstown and games in New York, Philadelphia, and Boston.

The fully-guided group tour opens in New York with a tour of Yankee Stadium, which is set to close forever after the 2008 season. The group then heads across town to Shea Stadium for a match-up between the Washington Nationals and the New York Mets. From the Big Apple it's on to the City of Brotherly Love for a Pittsburgh Pirates-Philadelphia Phillies game at Citizens Bank Park before heading upstate for a visit to the mecca of baseball fans everywhere -- Cooperstown. The tour also includes a Baltimore Orioles-Boston Red Sox game at Fenway Park before finishing up back in New York for a Chicago White Sox-Yankees game at Yankee Stadium.

Great seats to all games, tour admissions, accommodations at four star hotels, entrance fees, annual membership for the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, professional guide services, deluxe motor coach between all cities, game transfers, a welcome reception and souvenir gift are included in the tour package. The Hall of Fame Tour has been run by Roadtrips for 8 years and fills up every year. A selection of other baseball tours is also available at Roadtrips website at www.roadtrips.com/baseball.

Land cost for the tour is $1,395 double or triple occupancy and $1,875 for singles. Options for extra nights and extra games are available. Travelers who make reservations by April 1 will receive a $100 discount on the tour. Mention special code CAT07B when booking.
