AvirMedia.com to Introduce New CD & DVD Robotic Autoloader by Microboards Technology

AvirMedia.com has officially announced the availability of a new CD & DVD autoloader product line from the leading equipment manufacturer Microboards Technology.

/24-7PressRelease/ - WORCESTER, MA, May 14, 2007 - The new optical media duplication equipment features a new advanced robotic mechanism with a refined vacuum disc picker to produce outstanding results in high bulk media production environments.

The new high capacity HCL Autoloader product line provides a first-class unattended CD & DVD duplication workflow featuring a complete standalone operation. Among the highlight features are 1,000 disc capacity, a Multi-Master recognition Technology, an internal hard drive to store digital disc images for quick access and an auto-counter feature for the robotic mechanism production statistics.

The complete line of HCL Autoloaders are available at AvirMedia.com - a Microboards authorized dealer. The equipment is provided with full manufacturer's warranty and support and offers an outstanding value for media duplication houses and independent marketing producers.

AvirMedia is a leading online provider of CD, DVD and BluRay technology solutions that offers a full range of media production, duplication and printing equipment from most trusted optical equipment manufacturers.
