The Myspace Writing Contest of the Century! And it's Free?

Trimaxx International Publishers, LLC and new author/Publicist Carolanne D. Grant constructed and began promotions for "The Myspace Writing4Real Flash Fiction Contest".

With so many up and coming struggling writers, they knew that Myspace was the best promotional tool to get these authors noticed. So Ms. Grant and Trimaxx Publishers joined together to give these authors a chance to be noticed, read and have their name spread with record setting speed.

/24-7PressRelease/ - COLORADO SPRINGS, CO, November 07, 2007 - Because exposure for most authors costs so much, this publisher and author are offering prizes of free promotion through many venues.

Ms. Grant produces an Internet radio show on the popular "Blogtalk Radio" titled "Trimaxx Blogtalk Radio "Authors Speak Out!" This radio show was created for the benefit of new authors with books newly in print, spoken word artists with new CD's available as well as motivational speakers, novelists, and branching into all avenues of arts and entertainment. Giving chances to authors/creators from the entire spectrum of the literary world with a love for writing to experience flash fiction and to produce their best, whether its a first-time endeavor or if they are proficient in this style of writing.

The Trimaxx Publishers website currently sends out frequent calls to new authors, spoken word artists and songwriters of all the varied genres to send in work to be showcased on the site. Free promotion is something they know that all authors and artists deserve in this day and age of 'big budget, high profile' promotions that publishing companies and high traffic websites push with celebrity names. But Trimaxx Publishers offers this for free.

The first contest is scheduled to begin on December 3, 2007, and if you have a Myspace account please send a friend request to the website to support these authors by voting for them. You never know, the next J.K Rowling, Stephen King or Dan Brown may be in this contest! The votes are counted on the site only, and by comment entry so if you have an account or can spend a few minutes to create one to vote, the writers involved would truly benefit from your time and reading. For entrants, the blogs contain the specifics of Flash Fiction writing and the guidelines as well as other pertinent information. At this time, Trimaxx International Publishers nor Ms. Grant are equipped to offer cash prizes, but they are hopeful that at some time in the near future, this will be possible.

2nd & 3rd Place winners will receive an e-book copy of Javon or Lady Eros's books. And placement in the Official Myspace Page of Writing4Real Flash Fiction Contest page with an accompanying banner, (your picture, the title of the story and linked to your blog or website).

The 1st Place winner of the contest will receive the following:

- *You will be interviewed on the Trimaxx Blogtalk Radio Show: "Authors Speak Out!"
- *You and your story will be featured in the Ecstasy Monthly Newsletter
- *You and your story will be the featured "Story of the Month" on the Trimaxx Website
- *You will receive a copy of Javon or Lady Eros' newly released book
- *Placement on the Official Writing4Real Flash Fiction "Top Contest Writers Of The Month" Myspace Page
- *A personalized, animated banner made for you by professional Illustrator, Donna Clark of Donna's Creations!

*Entry into the Trimaxx "Contest Writers Hall of Fame" page.

(A special contest to be judged by the Publisher of Trimaxx International Publishers, LLC. twice a year in which the winners of the contests for the year compete in a story writing contest for this particular honor)

Writers, keep this in mind:

The Trimaxx Publishers website gets close to a million views per month
The Ecstasy Monthly Newsletter has almost 90,000 subscribers as of this month.

The Trimaxx Blogtalk Radio Show "Authors Speak Out!" listener base is growing weekly.
