Automotix.net Attracts More Customers With Free Articles And Article Submission Section.

Popular automobile parts website Automotix.net has launched a new section on their website which is comprised of more than a thousand free information articles. The company is promising there's a lot more on the way.

/24-7PressRelease/ - November 18, 2007 -- Automotix.net is an all-inclusive website, which specializes in allowing customers to buy and sell vehicles and vehicle parts online through classified ads. The site also allows visitors to perform an auto parts search, connecting them with hundreds of parts dealers all over the country. Automotix.net has always been regarded as an in-depth website and is considered an authority on cars and car parts, providing a wealth of information and resources for anyone looking for car parts or to purchase a vehicle.

Automotix.net, which already has a strong presence in the automotive industry online, is taking things a step further by adding a comprehensive information articles section. This articles section, covering a plethora of subjects, is divided into twenty different categories.

Automobile article topics include automobile detailing, modifications, cleaning and car care, engine mechanics and other vehicle services, dealing with collisions, buying and selling vehicles and vehicle parts, and vehicle reviews. Each article is categorized neatly into one of twenty different subject types, making it easy to find the exact article that is needed.

However, Automotix.net does not plan to stop with the 1,000 or so articles that are already available on the site.

The company is allowing anyone to submit his or her own articles to be categorized on Automotix.net. Anyone who has automobile-related articles is being urged to submit them using the article submission form that can be found at (<http://www.automotix.net/articles/submit.html>).

Automotix.net is not specifically looking for professionals, and articles written by anyone will be reviewed and can be accepted. Writers are encouraged to write about any automotive subject to which they believe they can contribute. The site mentions articles that fit the list of categories on the site have a higher chance of being accepted. Categories include Auto accident, Auto Finance, Road Side Assistance and more (for a complete list, visit the article section link, below).

The article section was introduced in an effort to bring new value to the automotive marketplace. The article section can be found at (<http://www.automotix.net/articles.html>). This new facet of the Automotix.net website is intended to become a comprehensive resource to the online automotive marketplace, which is in constant need of new information.

Automotix.net is quickly becoming a real power player in the automobile parts buying and selling industry. After establishing a strong presence in the online automotive industry, the site shows no signs of slowing down efforts to provide useful information and invaluable resources for car enthusiasts.
