/24-7PressRelease/ - PHOENIX, AZ, November 30, 2007 - Pet owner advocate, Mary Keller, has partnered with Neekam company to create the Pets 747 Blog. This blog will act as a source of information and networking for pet horoscopes, pet meds, pet smart, pet insurance and more.

Mary Keller says, "This includes some people who spend lots of at natural food stores reading labels or questioning the butcher about the life and death of cows often just settle for the nearest brightly-colored sack or box for their pets. I have argued with the owner of a small health food store recently, who wouldn't even sell organic or grass-fed meat or chicken for individuals because she believed eating animals was cruelty, about the really terrible pet food she carried. Not only were they low in quality but their protein sources were far less consistent with her store's supposed humane and ecological values than the free-range and organic meats she wouldn't carry. "

"Do you love pets? If so, you'll love this blog. Check this out: According to the U.S. Census Bureau there are just over three hundred million people in America; and according to the just released 2007/2008 American Pet Product Manufacturer's Association (APPMA) National Pet Owners Survey, there are more than two hundred forty five million pets (not counting all the individual fish in tanks). In other words, there are nearly as many pets as people."

This blog seeks to add to the publicity surrounding pet health insurance, pet strollers, pet accessories, pet lovers forum, pet finders, pet care services, pet supermarket, pet door, pet medication, pet urine or pet odor and more!

According to Ms. Keller the <http://www.pets747.com> Blog also stresses pet adoption, "In our country there are thousands of people, usually working quietly and without support, who open their homes to so many lost pets. These small organizations often do not have a voice within their community. This blog seeks to bring a voice to these groups and educates on the many ways to support local rescue animals."

The Pets 747 Blog is the online pet community's newest and most exciting place where people can read about how to enhance their pet's quality of life and happiness. The blog is constantly being updated with new features so be sure to check back often!
