

Press Release Contact Information:

Vinod Krishnan
Emantras
Business Analyst
42680 Christy Street.
Fremont, CA
United States, 94538
Voice: 510-257-4305
E-Mail: Email us Here
Website: Visit Our Website

Emantras launches its latest innovation HALO - a ubiquitous desktop learning widget

HALO, Highly Accessible Learning Objects, is a new innovative tool that increases content accessibility to maximum.

/24-7PressRelease/ - FREMONT, CA, December 12, 2007 - Emantras, a leading digital education and performance enhancement company specializing in content creation and delivery technologies today announced the launch of its latest innovation - HALO, a new enterprise learning enablement approach that drives training materials and critical corporate messaging directly to employees desktop. HALO, Highly Accessible Learning Objects, is a new innovative tool that increases content accessibility to maximum. With its smart design it complements enterprise training initiatives by allowing the administrator to push learning content, corporate messages and other announcements directly on to the employee's desktop there by increasing accessibility and reducing barriers.

Emantras' believes that effective e-Learning is not about technology but utilizing impeccable technology to create teachable moments. HALO platform is based on the ubiquitous "widget" platform and drives information and learning to the client desktop. The value of any learning or training program is the accessibility of knowledge and enabling clients to receive and participate without having to leave their desktop which in turn is a great opportunity to increase accessibility.

Emantras' proven ability in creating highly interactive, engaging and user centric training modules with its unique approach helps Emantras explore the many underlying issues to be considered while formulating a successful e-learning approach. Emantras services and products are customized to meet specific needs ranging from exceptional course management techniques for the administrator to richly interactive and productive learning environments for the learner while strictly adhering to the set standards. For a free demonstration, please contact marketing@emantras.com.

ABOUT EMANTRAS

Emantras is a leading digital education and performance improvement company, delivering comprehensive and versatile educational solutions with world-class training options to enterprises seeking to excel. Emantras provides engaging and user-centric learning experiences that enable effective knowledge propagation through integrated digital and mobile solutions. Backed with years of experience, combining learning techniques and technology, Emantras provides pioneering, reliable, and transparent solutions, on time and on budget. To learn more about the distinctive Emantras experience please visit us at www.emantras.com