/24-7PressRelease/ - ST. LOUIS, MO, December 21, 2007 - December 31 is sure to be a busy night of celebration in St. Louis this year. With so much going on in the city, the Marriott St. Louis Airport Hotel is opening their doors to guests from near and far, to spend a luxurious night surrounded in style, conveniently close to all the local festivities.

One such area New Year's Eve event is First Night. Guests and locals alike will enjoy over 75 different performances, festivities and activities. First Night is a celebration of art, where the imagination together will create a "Rhythm of the Night". Festivities begin along Grand Boulevard between Lindell and Grandel Square at 5:30 p.m. as the evening begins with a musical procession. Early birds will receive kazoos to be a part of the First Night Community Kazoo Corps. The night will end with a spectacular fireworks event as St. Louis ushers in the New Year joyfully singing "Auld Lang Syne".

For guests looking for something a little more intimate to welcome 2008, they can enjoy lingering conversation and good company with a dinner at Rock River Grill. A quiet, yet casually contemporary St. Louis American restaurant, Rock River is known for their succulent steaks and fresh seafood entrees. After dinner, meander over to Rock River Tavern, and sip martinis and specialty drinks past midnight in their lounge-like atmosphere.

After a leisurely dinner and drinks, retreat to private quarters and relax in the comfort and convenience of a deluxe guest room for two.
