Magnum IQ (MIQ) Educating the Masses With the Power of the Internet.

Magnum IQ educates people all around the world using the internet. What a great resource that helps so many people.

/24-7PressRelease/ - December 29, 2007 - Magnum IQ, is a new division of Team Effort International LLC, a 5 year old multi-national company. They are a privately-held and debt-free company with global offices in Northern California and Southern India.

Magnum IQ is a global, live online learning company dedicated to bringing success knowledge direct to everyone. They deliver interactive and live learning channels over the web.

"When my wife, Courtney, and I saw this opportunity with such a great philosophy and product line, we jumped on board with no second thoughts. We have a 22 month old daughter and her education is a major priority. I know she's a little young to get online, but this company will be around for a long time." Randy Neale says.

Magnum IQ isn't just for children, but for everyone. They offer a wide array of educational products. With Children's live homework help, Money and Finance, Self-Enrichment, Career and Professional Development, Language mastery, Success and Personal Development, PC Knowledge and Real Estate Educational courses, how can you go wrong?

"We have been looking for a work-at-home opportunity that we knew would be around for a long time. We are tired of jumping from one program to the next and really want to focus on something that we can build a residual income. Being self-employed, we need to consider a future where we can have residual income every month for years to come." Randy states.

Magnum IQ isn't some fly-by-night company. The founders have spent countless hours and a lot of money to put this program together. They have the necessary resources with a well thought out plan to ensure the immediate and long-term success.

"If you think education is expensive, try ignorance."

"That is a great saying and I saw it on a bumper sticker years ago." Randy says.
