/24-7PressRelease/ - BEVERLY HILLS, CA, January 24, 2008 - Darren Farris's new, power-pop rocking album "Psychopathic Issues" is a testament to always taking the road less traveled and not looking back. "It was actual therapy for me, no pun intended," laughs Farris, as he describes his experience writing the album. Consisting of thirteen guitar- and lyric-driven tracks, it completes what he describes as an "audio-ography of the past 10 or so" years of his life. "I find it very difficult to write about things that I haven't experienced first hand, so I have to write about my life situations," Farris says of his songwriting process. "I think that is actually why people seem to get drawn to this album," Farris continues, "It all comes from real places, about real people, written at real points of raw emotion."

Starting the journey with the adrenalin-pumping "Nobody But You" and ending with a guitar-smashing, cinematic remix of the debut single "Jenna", "Psychopathic Issues" blends just the right elements of powerpop and mainstream pop/rock to secure a musical grip on the listener's mind.

Growing up in a musical family, Los Angeles-based singer/songwriter Darren Farris's path seemed to be cut for a musical life. Darren's mother was the lead singer of The Waylighters, a popular touring band in the 70's. A young Farris was never left out of the band. "Oh yeah, I really had little choice but to love music," Farris explains, "There was always practicing, writing music, and musicians [coming] in and out of our home."

Farris is banking on his "Psychopathic Issues" to be the right prescription for an ailing rock and roll radio that is undernourished and in dire need of a new and exciting sound.

Psychopathic Issues and the debut single "Jenna", will be available online and in stores everywhere on February, 17th 2008.
