4740000 Results On Google For "Paid Survey" However, Scams, Other Problem Lurk

While paid online survey websites may be simple to find online, finding a legitimate program offering actual payments, and sending payments on time is a different story.

/24-7PressRelease/ - LAUREL, MD, February 03, 2008 -- Long forms, intruding questions, and a long list of multiple-selection fields - Surveys have always been viewed as a nuisance by most people. However, for some people surveys have been a comfortable source of income.

In the last few years, online surveys have grown into a multi-million dollar industry. Hundreds of new survey companies have suddenly popped up, offering pretty much anyone wanting to make a part-time income from surveys a fair chance. However, problems soon followed.

The industry was plagued with endless scams: Late payments, no customer-support, and some companies just plain disappear. Anyone looking to fill out surveys and get paid online should probably stick to companies with a good reputation and some positive reviews. One interesting website offering such unbiased reviews is Online-Paid-Surveys.net

What makes the Online-Paid-Surveys.net website unique, is not only that it offers all of its survey panel information for free, but also that it offers free instant access to a wealth of member-created information and company reviews, as well. Members of the Online-Paid-Surveys.net website can read reviews posted by other members, and can participate in online contests that allow their opinions to actually matter by winning them a variety of prizes.

Members who are interested in winning prizes for sharing their opinions of survey panels will appreciate the opportunities provided by the Online-Paid-Surveys.net website for them to do so. What sets this online survey website apart from all others, among other reason is the concept of affiliate based earnings.

Because the Online-Paid-Surveys.net website gets its income through affiliate and ad revenue, this website can focus on rating each survey panel based on unbiased information in conjunction with reviews that are provided by members. These members actively participate and fill out surveys for the companies they review on the site, making the reviews genuine.

Online-Paid-Surveys.net responds to this blatant need by presenting a free and legitimate source of information for free online paid surveys.

The Online-Paid-Surveys.net paid survey review website also offers information that is specific to a number of different regions and countries all throughout the globe, catering to people of all types. Teenagers even have a page that is dedicated specifically to them. This way, the Online Paid Surveys website can cater to interested Internet users from all over the globe by providing information that is geared directly toward them.

The Online Paid Surveys website was developed as a way to overcome the misleading information out there regarding paid market research surveys that are available on the Internet. After coming across a number of false websites of this kind, the creator behind Online-Paid-Surveys.net finally found the right option: A website that offers free and factual information on companies offering paid survey opportunities online.
