Online Discount Color Copy Company Changes Locations

New space will allow them to increase production, expand services, improve turnaround time, and lower prices.

/24-7PressRelease/ - STILLWATER, MN, March 06, 2008 - Docucopies.com, the Internet's trailblazer in high-quality color copies at cheap prices, is changing locations.

The new space will allow the company to expand immensely on their color copying and binding services. They plan to produce more volume, improve the turnaround time on jobs, and eventually add new services which customers have requested. By producing more copies and decreasing the turnaround time, Docucopies.com will be able to keep their prices at an all-time low, solidifying their rank as the least expensive color copy business on the Internet.

The new location, just across the St. Croix River in Hudson, Wisc., dwarfs the square footage of their current spot. This will allow them to add more machinery for copying, printing, binding for books and booklets, bulk mailing, and more.

"The brave new world of web-based, on-demand copying and printing just got a lot braver," said marketing director Jeff Corbo.

Their prices on color copying have dropped dramatically over the last year, leaving their competitors scrambling to keep up. Now, Docucopies prices are cheaper than they have ever been.

"With the new space, new machines, and increased staff in production and customer service, we'll never have to raise prices again," said Corbo.

About Docucopies.com

Docucopies.com offers discount prices on color copies, black and white copies, booklets, books, magazines, manuals, and more, at a fraction of the cost charged by chains like FedEx-Kinko's. Their website will price out almost any custom job and show a price-calculator that updates in real-time as information is entered. They have been in the business since 1980 and are among the small percentage of printing companies to adapt, survive and flourish with the sweeping changes brought on by the Internet Revolution.
