Multilizer Now Supports ASP.NET Localization

Multilizer has updated its support for ASP.NET software. Now ASP.NET source code files can be localized with Multilizer. Multilizer has earlier published support for other .NET source code files as well as for compiled .NET applications.

/24-7PressRelease/ - HELSINKI, FINLAND, March 22, 2008 -- Multilizer, leader in localization and translation software, has released an update to its .NET source code localization support. Now also ASP.NET applications can be localized with Multilizer. Multilizer has earlier released support for other .NET source code files.

The support for ASP.NET source code localization is included in Multilizer's DotNetSource Scanner plug-in. The scanner plug-in reads ASP.NET source code files and extracts the translatable texts from the files. Then Multilizer analyzes the file and detects changes in the file, that is the texts that have been added, modified or removed. After that Multilizer provides effective tools for translating, translation outsourcing as well as quality assurance. When the translation is finished, DotNetSource Scanner plug-in puts the newly translated texts back into the original files thus creating localized files.

For more information about localizing .NET and ASP.NET source code files please refer to http://support.multilizer.com/docs/scanners/multilizer\_dotnetsource\_scan... .

For more information about localizing compiled .NET Assembly-files (EXE-files) please refer to http://support.multilizer.com/docs/scanners/multilizer\_dotnetassembly\_sc... .

For more information about other Multilizer's plug-ins please refer to <http://www.multilizer.com/plugins> .

The support for ASP.NET localization is already available in Multilizer Enterprise, Pro for Developers and Lite for Developers editions. The support for ASP.NET localization is available also as a separate Multilizer plug-in.
