RemoteGurus.com is the perfect platform for finding outsourced professionals and contract jobs, such as programming jobs, web design jobs, writing jobs, and SEO jobs. RemoteGurus.com help employers & recruiters find telecommuting experts who work from a remote location.

/24-7PressRelease/ - DURHAM, NC, April 28, 2008 - RemoteGurus.com (<http://www.remotegurus.com>) has relaunched its job board for finding outsourced talent and freelance contract jobs. Unlike most job boards, RemoteGurus.com is unique.

The platform is for telecommuters and those seeking skilled telecommute professionals. We are almost a decade into 2000 and telecommuting jobs are becoming more and more popular. With the rise of gas prices and inflation who wouldn't want a job where they could work from home and save on these overpriced commute expenses? The Internet has made working from home a foreseeable possibility. RemoteGurus.com help employers and recruiters find outsourced talent who can successfully execute jobs from a remote location. Some jobs that can be successfully executed from remote location include jobs such as: programming jobs, writing jobs, web design projects, SEO gigs, Internet marketing jobs, etc.

This is an ideal solution for small businesses or individuals seeking skilled professionals to help with a task or project. If you have a small company which doesn't have large enough office space to hire a staff or enough business to hire a full-time staff then outsourcing projects as they come is a viable solution.

RemoteGurus.com allows recruiters to post projects which freelancers have the ability to bid on. This gives the recruiter greater negotiation in terms of rate and expected services. RemoteGurus.com also has an in-house escrow system which protects recruiters and providers from being ripped off.

Besides, posting projects RemoteGurus.com also allow you to post regular jobs. The job section gives you the ability to post your direct contact information so potential employees can send their cover letter and resume. The entire system is robust with added features to make your experience easier and more rewarding.

For a limited time, RemoteGurus.com is free to post jobs, post projects, and bid on projects. RemoteGurus.com isn't new to the Internet, but it has been revamped to increase its visibility. Up until now, RemoteGurus.com was just a bump on the map, but with our new marketing plan we are reaching the masses.
