Energy Assessor College Launches Multi-Skilled Energy Assessor Courses

New training program at www.energyassessorcollege.com offers a fast-track route to a new career as an energy assessor

/24-7PressRelease/ - READING/BIRMINGHAM, UK, April 29, 2008 - From 28 April 2008, Energy Assessor College (Reading and Birmingham) is offering the UK's first Multi-Skilled Energy Assessor courses.

This comprehensive and accredited training program offers a fast-track route to anyone seeking a new career as a qualified New Build, Commercial and/or Domestic Energy Assessor.

ABBE Diplomas

Energy Assessor College provide cutting edge, classroom-based courses leading to the:

- ABBE (Awarding Body for the Built Environment) Diploma in Domestic Energy Assessment (ABBE OnCon DEA)
- ABBE Diploma in Non-Domestic Energy Assessment (ABBE DipNDEA)
- ABBE Diploma in Domestic Energy Assessment (ABBE DipDEA)

"All of the above are Vocational Related Qualifications (VRQs) and the Multi-Skilled Energy Assessor courses are Quality Accredited by ABBE," says Simon MacTaggart, MD, Built Environment and Skills Training (BEST) Ltd.

State-of-the-art training centres

The ABBE-approved assessment centres are state-of-the-art facilities. Each classroom is equipped with HDTV to assist the trainer in their course presentation and a maximum of 16 per class enable the trainer to give individual time to each trainee, whilst ergonomic seating, air conditioning and natural light in all classrooms ensure each trainee is relaxed, comfortable and in a learning environment second-to-none.

New opportunities for the self-employed

Training at Energy Assessor College in Reading or Birmingham offers anyone already working in the housing market, as well as those seeking self-employment or those looking to retrain, a unique opportunity to create a multi-revenue stream business offering.
