OpSec Security Will Exhibit Brand Protection Solutions at the IACC Annual Conference

OpSec will be showcasing solutions and services that can effectively support and enhance a business' anti-counterfeiting and piracy strategies.

/24-7PressRelease/ - BOSTON, MA, May 03, 2008 - OpSec Security, the global leader in anti-counterfeiting and brand protection solutions, will again be exhibiting at the annual International Anti-Counterfeiting Coalition (IACC) Conference in Berlin, Germany on May 14-16, 2008.

OpSec will be showcasing solutions and services that can effectively support and enhance a business' anti-counterfeiting and piracy strategies. The IACC Conference is hosted at the Ritz Carlton and is being co-presented with the German National Anti-Counterfeiting Trade Association and The German Business Action Group against Product and Trademark Counterfeiting (APM-React Germany).

"Counterfeiting and intellectual property crime is a major threat to business," said Jeffrey Unger, President, Brand Protection, OpSec Security. "The IACC is a leading industry association dedicated to helping its members protect their intellectual property rights. Attendees will no doubt come away with valuable insights on enforcement trends, government actions, and product security technologies to protect their company's intellectual property and brands."
