Deacom Enhances Document Management System for Manufacturers

Deacom, Inc. announces today the addition of the DEACOM document linker to the DEACOM Integrated Accounting and Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) Software System.

/24-7PressRelease/ - WAYNE, PA, May 03, 2008 - Deacom, Inc. announces today the addition of the DEACOM document linker to the DEACOM Integrated Accounting and Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) Software System. An extension of the DEACOM electronic document management system, the document linker allows manufacturers to link an unlimited number of transactional documents to their corresponding transactions for easy access in a single ERP system.

The DEACOM ERP Software System offers a built-in electronic document management system that allows manufacturers to store any electronic files throughout the main ERP system. The document linker builds on that capacity by using barcodes to link documents like delivery tickets and packing lists to their respective transactions.

With the Document Linker, DEACOM users can scan and import mass quantities of barcoded documents into the ERP system. These documents are automatically linked to their corresponding transactions, such as sales orders or purchase orders, based on the barcoded information.

"The document linker is another way DEACOM connects companies to the information they need in one, central spot," says Paul Heinmiller, Implementation Specialist at Deacom. "Rather than sort through paper filings or turn to an external document management system to verify that a customer signed off on a delivery or that you received a proper shipment, the document linker allows you to instantly view all linked documents for a given transaction within your ERP system."

The DEACOM ERP Software System is designed to integrate the business processes of building component, manufactured building, pharmaceutical, specialty chemical, adhesive, sealant, food and beverage, paint, ink, coating, and cosmetic manufacturers in a single system.
