Lower Prices on Hardware Helps Commercial Contractors Win Big Deals!

The leading online resource for commercial door locks, hardware and hinges; offers surprising deals to the Construction Industry on Schlage, Von Duprin, LCN, Ives, Glynn Johnson and more.

/24-7PressRelease/ - BROOKLYN, NY, May 04, 2008 -- Faced with the ongoing mortgage crisis, as well as the impending prospect of financial recession, many commercial builders are worried about whether there will be enough construction projects to keep them in business. Contractors competing for projects are looking for new ways to keep prices low, in order to win new development projects, while still making enough of a profit to stay in business.

Leading resource for architectural commercial door locks, hinges, exit devices, closers and hardware. the websites have been developed with a professional knowledge that comes from more than 25 years of excellence in the hardware industry.

Searching online for door hardware on sale can be a tedious process though, without knowing the exact model, design and finish needed from the start. Many commercial developers don't want to spend hours searching for products, especially when they cannot even be sure of how their final purchase will look until after it is already shipped.

Lockmart USA, the Brooklyn, NY corporate headquarters distributor of commercial hardware, has helped contractors, builders, developers, institutional buyers and wholesalers keep prices significantly lower on door locks, hinges, door closers, exit devices, and other building hardware, allowing them to win big contracts at affordable prices, without compromising on quality.

Lockmart USA has developed a special, easy to use, dynamically driven website platform that has made it both simpler and less expensive for developers to order online. It is a system designed exclusively for commercial developers and offers the most popular durable hardware brands, only from manufacturers that are highly respected for their reputation for excellence, such as Schlage, Von Duprin and LCN. They distribute commercial hardware with many different designs and finishes.

Commercial developers and institutional buyers have reacted enthusiastically to Lockmart USA's low discount prices and streamlined ordering process. Some say they love the fact that "the websites have been developed with a professional knowledge that comes from more than 25 years of excellence in the hardware industry." Lockmart USA's website now makes it easier than ever to access its vast selection of merchandise at heavily discounted prices, so builders can see exactly what the final product will look like and can choose the right functions and specifications. The Lockmart USA websites focus especially on serving builders, developers, hospitals and institutions.

The corporate Lockmart USA website encompasses a number of distinct sites:

Popular Hardware offers a range of door locks, closers and exit devices, from Schlage, Von Duprin, LCN, Glynn Johnson, Falcon, Monarch and Doromatic.
