Fashion Technology Comes to New Mexico

Distance Color Analysis Offered by Gillian Armour Image Consulting

With a distance hair, makeup and personal color analysis from Gillian Armour Consulting, you'll know exactly the hairstyles, and makeup and wardrobe colors that flatter your skin tone, no matter where you live.

/24-7PressRelease/ - May 08, 2008 - This year's style trends say color, color, color. But which colors look best on you? Are you a summer, an autumn, winter or spring? Technology now allows for successful analysis of skin coloring, facial shape, and special features via digital photography, resulting in a custom "new look" for you. With a distance hair, makeup and personal color analysis from Gillian Armour Consulting, you'll know exactly the hairstyles, and makeup and wardrobe colors that flatter your skin tone, no matter where you live.

"This is a great gift for students, friends or family, especially the mom or dad who has everything. It's so much more personal than flowers or a tie. Wives and partners can spruce up their spouses and loved ones in a non-confrontational way," says Armour, owner of Gillian Armour Image Consulting. She helps men and women with their appearance, self-esteem, wardrobe, grooming and body language in ways that empower them to change.

Access Armour's easy three-step, online process at www.gillianarmour.com (click on color analysis). After you upload a photo, you'll receive back a packet with hair and makeup examples, a color fan and extensive shopping guide so you can find your perfect styles and shades with confidence when you head to the mall or salon.

Armour, the only certified International Image Consultant in New Mexico, is also certified by and a member of the Association of Image Consultants International (AICI). Dramatic before and after makeovers can be seen at www.gillianarmour.com, along with up to the minute style and fashion news, and a complete listing of upcoming courses for the public and those interested in a career as fashion or image consultant.
