To Date 62% of the Humans Die When Infected with the H5N1 Virus

Is the H5N1 Virus known as Bird Flu or Avian Flu really a potential threat to the world and how can we prepare?

/24-7PressRelease/ - SANDY SPRINGS, GA, May 10, 2008 - WHO - World Health Organization stated in a recent news release that without a doubt the new and continued series of outbreaks of birds infected with H5N1 in many locations throughout the world indicates the spread of the H5N1 Avian Flu virus and disturbingly translates into a more dramatic threat of a potential Avian Flu worldwide pandemic in the near future. On a scale of 1 to 5 the WHO stated the world is at a level 3 in seriousness and potential. Which leads to the question as world citizens what can we do?

The very first thing in preparation is to listen and research, be aware! Example: don't check the weather and head to the storm shelter after the tornado has passed! Same is true with the Avian Flu and potential pandemic, there are things you can do right now! Monday night May 12th at 4 PM EDT join Mike Coston, an expert on preparedness, on The Infectious Disease Hour only on www.radiosandysprings.com/Radio Sandy Springs 1620 LPAM America's Web Radio Station. Mike will discuss before, during and after a disaster like a potential pandemic and give helpful advice on beginning to prepare today. Simple things like discussing the problem with neighbors, stocking up on water and even soap! Monitoring www.flutrackers.com and being aware of what is going on.

This is very important information that can save you and your family's life. Please listen and tell family, friends, and associates to listen or download the program. Folks if you don't want to listen at least take the time to check www.pandemicflu.gov and see how important and dreadful the impact of a pandemic can be on you and the ones you love!

www.radiosandysprings.com - America's Web Radio Station is the only radio station in the nation devoting an hour per week to the potential Avian Flu Pandemic.
