Regus, the leading global provider of workplace solutions, has opened the doors to its state-of-the-art business centre in one of the hottest new buildings in Birmingham - the grade A listed Fort Dunlop building redevelopment.

/24-7PressRelease/ - LONDON, UK, May 10, 2008 - With space for over 200 customers, the new Regus centre offers everything local businesses and business professionals need to keep Birmingham's economy booming - from hi-tech video conferencing facilities to its beautifully designed business lounge, meeting and conference rooms.

Previously the headquarters for world-famous tyre manufacturer Dunlop, the Fort Dunlop site has been given a complete facelift by award-winning developer, Urban Splash and is set to be one of the most desirable business locations in Birmingham area and the UK. Other facilities on-site include a wide selection of boutique stores and fine restaurants, as well as a children's nursery and crèche.

Regus Fort Dunlop provides the ultimate in flexible working solutions. Local businesses, mobile and home workers alike can book ahead or drop in to take advantage of its five conference and meeting rooms, video conferencing services and state of the art business lounge.
