/24-7PressRelease/ - NORTH MIAMI BEACH, FL, May 10, 2008 - The knowledge base at SubstanceAbuseCenter.com has recently extended its reach to more topics in the addiction world, in order to give a better appeal to a wider audience of those seeking help.

The amount of things one can become addicted to is astounding. Owners of the successful SubstanceAbuseCenter.com understand this, and have likewise begun to add support for multiple topics on their already informative resource.

Most competitors generally stick to one topic, such as drugs or alcohol, while SubstanceAbuseCenter.com encompasses both subjects and more, not to mention they delve into the specifics of each topic .

Subscribers to the newsletter or RSS feed will be getting updates on a continual basis, as the information continues to pour out the developer's hands and into the minds and souls of those who need it most. This contribution to the community of the needy comes at no cost.

Because it's free, competitors seeking to make a profit from the industry are out of luck. SubstanceAbuseCenter.com will continue to offer their services at no charge to the consumer, and will expand in due time as new information comes out.
