About Twin Mountain Collections

All wood products are made by hand at Twin Mountain Collections' New Hampshire woodworking shop. Everything is made from natural solid wood --- pressed woods are never used to make an item.

The beautiful stained finishing process is a multiple step process. The woodmeister uses either a special formula hand-mixed wood stain to bring out the natural beauty of the wood or he selects classic country color paints to use on products. Other stains or washes are available upon request and may require additional time to complete.

Following in a family tradition, Twin Mountain Collections continues a long legacy of woodworkers from a great-grandfather in the Black Forest of Germany to grandfather to father and now to a third generation son.

The woodworking shop is located near the picturesque White Mountains of New Hampshire.
