PrinterFetch Announces New Updates to its Software

PrinterFetch, the leading online marketplace for brochures, flyers, postcards, business cards, and other print goods - announces new updates to its software.

/24-7PressRelease/ - New York, NY, June 13, 2008 - PrinterFetch (www.PrinterFetch.com), an online print marketplace for brochures, flyers, postcards, business cards, and other print products, announced that it has added features to its print buying service.

After primarily servicing large enterprise organizations for several years, PrinterFetch has expanded its offerings to target print buyers who want to make smaller scale purchases. Through PrinterFetch, print buyers can get instant prices from hundreds of printers nationwide for their print goods.

"I am grateful for the service PrinterFetch offers. Instead of spending hours trying to find the right printer, I can instantly access printer prices and capabilities through PrinterFetch and complete my purchases in a couple minutes," says PrinterFetch user and graphic designer Steve Wahl.

PrinterFetch continues to enhance its service to provide maximum savings to its users. According to Chris Song, an executive at PrinterFetch, the software can easily save customers over 30% what they would normally spend for their print purchases. For goods such as brochures, these savings can reach close to 40%.
