Local financial expert, Philip R. Chase, brings experience and leadership to PerformTech as Vice President of Finance

Philip R. Chase a leader in financial strategic management is named as the Vice President of Finance for PerformTech. In the past 18 months, PerformTech's growth has tripled, creating a need for strong financial leadership of innovative and impressive credentials, such as Philip R. Chase.

/24-7PressRelease/ - Alexandria, VA, June 13, 2008, PerformTech, a leading provider of training and educational solutions, recently named Philip Chase as Vice President of Finance. Mr. Chase brings clear direction, leadership abilities, and vast financial industry experience to PerformTech. After joining PerformTech as a consultant in 2007, Mr. Chase quickly exceeded expectations in leading and managing PerformTech's accounting operations. As Vice President of Finance, Philip continues to mold PerformTech's financial strategy through a period of rapid growth.

Mr. Chase as President of Synergis, LLC, provided financial, strategic, organization, and valuation support for the local business and management advisory firm. He is also a founder and Vice Chairman of the Virginia based, Security One Bank. Additionally, Mr. Chase sits on the board of Small Northern Virginia Companies (SNVC), where he continues to develop operational plans and strategize financial risk management with other community leaders. Previously, Mr. Chase served as Director of Corporate Operations at Stanley Associates, where he was responsible for strategic vision and process improvement initiatives.

"We are thrilled to have the opportunity to work with Philip, as he brings a visionary management style and an extensive breadth of financial leadership experience to our company" said Emma Lopo-Sullivan, Executive Vice President of PerformTech. "His analytical approach to corporate financial risk management and continued involvement in the local financial community is a combination that fits well with PerformTech's culture."
