Adbirds.com Invites You to Name the Bird

The upcoming online commerce community adbirds.com is conducting a contest in which participants will submit names for their new mascot.

/24-7PressRelease/ - AUSTIN, TX, June 15, 2008 - The new and upcoming online community Adbirds.com is looking for a suitable name for their new mascot, and will be conducting a contest in which participants will create fun and unique names for the Adbird character.

The 1st place winner will receive a fabulous cash prize of $500 and will have their name used as the official name of the Adbirds.com mascot. Adbirds.com will also award the second place winner with an Ipod Nano for their efforts.

Name submissions can be either male or female, and have absolutely no creative limitations whatsoever, but you are limited to one submission per person. You may submit your entry by going to the website www.adbirds.com. The contest currently has no deadline for submissions but submit your idea soon, because the contest will stop accepting names in the next few weeks.
