First Social Network for Married People Launches

Hitched Media Inc, has launched the first social network to spark a conversation about marriage, help married individuals seek advice from the community, connect with friends and family, connect with marital experts and much more.

/24-7PressRelease/ - HUNTINGTON BEACH, CA, June 15, 2008 - Finally, a social network for adults. Just as Hitchedmag.com was the first and only resource and lifestyle website exclusively focused on entertaining, educating and inspiring marriages, Hitched Media, Inc. is proud to present "Married Life," (<http://marriedlife.hitchedmag.com>) the first and only social network for married couples.

Over half the U.S. population is married and they now have a one-stop network where they can connect with friends and family, get answers and share marriage advice with one another. The one-of-a-kind site also offers an avenue to gain access and connect with the many qualified experts Hitchedmag.com offers its readers every day.

"With the same intentions we began with two years ago when we launched our first website," says Co-Founder Gabriel Lefrancois, "my partner, Steve Cooper, and I felt it necessary to take Hitchedmag.com to the next level and allow our thousands of dedicated readers the chance to network with one another, share their marital advice and connect with our many qualified experts. It was the next logical step in our quest to become the premier marriage resource."

The Married Life network allows members to build a fully customizable profile page, create a blog, share pictures and create slideshows, list events, create special interest groups, join and create topics on the site's discussion forum and upload video using original footage or share from popular services like YouTube, Google Video and others.
