"Vicinity Manufacturing Exhibits at 2008 American Coating Show"

Batch Manufacturing Software Solution Gets Rave Reviews At First Annual ACS!

/24-7PressRelease/ - ATLANTA, GA, June 18, 2008 - Vicinity Manufacturing, creators of the premier software solution for the process manufacturing industry, opened the first annual American Coating Show last week in Charlotte, North Carolina to outstanding reviews. The three day expo highlighted the best and latest in the paint and chemical industry; as well as future chemical and coating technology on the horizon. Vicinity Manufacturing highlighted new features of its batch manufacturing software, particularly those which the chemical and coatings manufacturer's find especially beneficial.

New Vicinity features highlighted during ACS which greatly benefit the manufacturing process of the Paint and Chemical industry specifically include: Enhanced quality control entry screen to assign user definable test statuses to track reasons for test failure; Expansion of the compliance document print functionality to select any compliance document during document printing; Addition of test status and stage field to the batch and component quality control entry screen; Introduction of Country of Origin tracking by lot in the component quality control entry screen. American Coating Show attendees were delighted at the new features the Vicinity ERP solution had to offer!

Show attendee Bevester Page, Research Chemist for Buckman Laboratories, shared her enthusiasm for the Vicinity solution by saying, "We (Buckman) love Vicinity Manufacturing! The Vicinity process manufacturing software blows BatchMaster out of the water!"
