CONTRACT SPOT DRIVES ATTENTION WITH BIKINI TRUCK WASH

Contract Spot, a website helping contractors and customers do business, was quite the attraction last Friday with a free event for contractors and customers.

/24-7PressRelease/ - CINCINNATI, OH, June 20, 2008 - It is difficult to stray away from the doldrums at the pumps these days. Contract Spot was able to successfully take everyone's mind off gas, and divert it by educating about the importance of the service network with a free truck wash. Over 30 girls helped out at the event to hand out free food, drinks, t-shirts, and prizes. The turnout was great. Pictures and video are currently up on the site.

When customers and contractors are able to conduct business online time, paper, and money are reduced. The process is just plain easier. Customers in need of a service can post projects. Contractors benefit by receiving free leads and managing their company through an easy web-based solution. Contract Spot makes revenue by charging a transaction fee when invoices, sent through the site from contractors to customers, are paid online via electronic check or credit card.

Contract Spot can be found on the Web at <http://www.contractspot.com>

Founded in 2005, Contract Spot is an electronic invoicing and payment solution that helps manage the relationship between service pros and customers.
