On-line Industrial Trade Show Adds 106 Exhibitors From 9 Countries

ArriveNEWS.com, publisher and organizer of the International Industrial Trade Show (IITS 2008) has added 106 exhibitors to its on-line event offering a wide range of industrial supplies, equipment and machinery

/24-7PressRelease/ - Westboro, MA, July 16, 2008 - ArriveNEWS, a division of the Industrial Leaders Group and organizer of the Web's first virtual industrial trade show at <http://www.ArriveNEWS.com/iits.html> announced today the inclusion of 106 exhibitors from 9 different countries for its International Industrial Trade Show (IITS 2008). According to Candice Licopoli, spokesperson for the company, the show is designed to connect throughout the year industrial suppliers and buyers with suitable manufacturers, exporters, distributors and importers worldwide.

Licopoli said the 106 exhibiting companies added to the industrial trade show include US-based manufacturers of high voltage switchgear, structural steel, metal fasteners, diesel engines, ball bearings, test and measuring devices, integrated circuits, disposable balers, welding equipment, hydraulic pumps and cylinders and vacuum systems. European exhibitors include manufacturers of tube and pipe cutting equipment, wall office partitions, conveyors, industrial filters, racking, shelving and other storage systems. Asian exhibitors include suppliers of hardware, industrial chemicals, packaging machines, cable and wire, CNC woodworking equipment, power supplies, building materials, abrasive disc, welding wire mesh and a wide range of other industrial goods.

Qualified manufacturers interested in participating as an exhibitor of IITS are invited to register at <http://www.worldwideindustrialmarketplace.com/freelisting.html>. "The International Industrial Trade Show is an all-year-long event which exhibits manufacturers all over the world offering all kinds of industrial products," said Licopoli. She explained, "Exhibitors are able to showcase their company, product line and corporate capabilities free-of-charge in front of a highly targeted international audience of engineers, plant maintenance professionals, production managers and other industrial, mechanical and technical buyers."

IITS was originally established by Donald LaBelle, CEO of Industrial Leaders and co-founder of the Industrial Leaders Group (ILG), a network of industry-focused directories, marketplaces, B2B trade portals, private business forums and social networking sites for the manufacturing community. Licopoli said the exhibition is expected to eventually include on-line videos developed by ArriveNEWS editors and its associates to more effectively showcase the products and services offered by exhibitors of the International Industrial Trade Show.
