Ebony Stylez Brands Their Name Within Hip Hop

Presenting himself as a man with boldness and principle, Erick Emmanuel has united Ebony Stylez with Alonce Music Agency to take the distinctive hip hop group to the next level and carry their brand as well as music to the world.

/24-7PressRelease/ - WILMINGTON, DE, July 17, 2008 - There are countless hip hop artists trying to break into the hip hop industry on a daily basis, but so many artists fail and get left behind due to lack of branding. Ebony Stylez front man, Erick Emmanuel, is preparing to set himself loose within the hip hop industry leaving other artists in the dust with his unique style of branding.

Ebony Stylez, a hard hitting hip hop industry overnight success out of New York City, packs their shows with dancers and hype men to provide an unforgettable concert. After only being teamed up for two years, Ebony Stylez has already hit the industry so fast that fans have flocked to their MySpace page for group updates and to leave positive comments for additional great music.

Their front man, Erick Emmanuel, shows that he never takes no for an answer and that it's all about the image. After being approached by several labels with rewarding record deals, which most artists would beg for, Erick felt that he would lose control of the artistic side of his music and had to decline their lucrative offers.

Presenting himself as a man with boldness and principle, Erick has united Ebony Stylez with Alonce Music Agency to take the distinctive hip hop group to the next level and carry their brand as well as music to the world.

"We get so many submissions every day that our submission team has to go through, but Ebony Stylez moved quickly through our submission process," said Joey Pavel, an Alonce Music Agency representative, "We were quick to notice their spectacular image and unforgettable sound."

Ebony Stylez's campaign for the rest of 2008 is set to present the irresistible group to both TV and radio stations throughout the northeast followed by a national campaign for 2009. Alonce Music Agency plans to develop a publicity campaign for Ebony Stylez's new album, which release dates will be distributed soon, to take hit songs from the album to a national level quickly.

Their classy and precise brand of music will continue to cause a stir within the hip hop industry while providing their fans with music that they can not only dance with, but also listen to over and over again.
