DevWeek India 2008- No Marketing Bushwah, Only Real Information

After organizing successful conferences like JAX India 2007, JAX India 2008 and SOA India 2007, S&S Media (India) has taken charge of yet another comprehensive in-depth event on Java, ASP.NET and Dynamic Languages, better known as DevWeek India 2008.

/24-7PressRelease/ - BANGALORE, INDIA, July 19, 2008 - S&S Media, a proud presenter of top-notch events such as JAX India and SOA India, announced to carry out an in-depth event for Software Developers, Software Architects, Project Managers, Analysts and Consultants in India, dubbed as DevWeek India 2008. It is scheduled to kick start on 25th of August and go on till the 28th of August 2008 at NIMHANS Auditorium, Bangalore, India.

DevWeek India 2008 is a week long event, where a broad range of half-day and full-day tutorials tailored specially for your needs furnish you the unique opportunity to delve into several technologies such as Java, .NET and Dynamic Languages. A practical approach and hands-on code examples help you get valuable use for your everyday work.

DevWeek India 2008 gives you and your colleagues the right platform to gather cutting-edge information on technology from the best speakers and trainers of the industry. Our jury of speakers include Neal Ford: a senior application architect at ThoughtWorks and also the editor and contributor to No Fluff, Just Stuff Anthology 2006, and 2007 edition, Ted Neward: an independent IT consultant specializing in high-scale enterprise systems who is also a well-known speaker on the conference circuit, and Michael Li: the founding president and CTO of InfoCan Management Consultants, founding Chairman of the Vancouver Delphi Developers Association and also a Certified Borland Consultant and Instructor for Delphi and C++Builder.

These internationally renowned vendor-neutral speakers guarantee that no marketing bushwah is keeping you away from the real and relevant information. Real value for your money is assured with special deals such as Early Bird discounts and Company Team Discounts.

Software developing is all about passion and we at S&S Media (India) offer you the passion for developing back! Learn how to increase your productivity dramatically and save cost, learn how to enhance the quality of your software applications, meet your peers in a productive and social environment and get passionate on Software programming, you surely can't ask for more!
