A new place to Shop online! www.itsaboutshopping.com

A new website that offers good advice and deals on products and services online

/24-7PressRelease/ - DUBLIN, IRELAND, July 19, 2008 - So whats it all about this time then? A new shopping site was launched today by owner and creator Sean Byrne. Itsaboutshopping.com is a new site that aims to provide information and advise for online shoppers on products and services that the site is currently promoting and marketing.

Currently, the site is concentrating on marketing and promoting products within the digital camera market. However, the sites aim is to expand its web pages by entering into other markets of interest. Such markets will include the likes of other electronical goods like ipods, personal computers, laptops, Audio & TV, cell phones and services. These markets are to name but a few!

Itsaboutshopping.com aims to enter markets outside of the electronical market and offer its visitors and customers promotions on products such as baby gifts, beauty products, sports equipment, musical equipment, Jewelry and furniture.

"At the moment, we are concentrating our efforts on the digital camera market and are looking to expand out to other markets." Says Byrne, "We have big and exciting plans for the future of the shopping site. We will soon be adding a blog and more products within the digital camera niche. We are also soon to create a special report exclusive to our digital camera visitors. We'll annouce this report in due course!"

If you would like to visit the shopping site, then please visit <http://www.itsaboutshopping.com>
