IndustrialCOOP Launches Bearings Marketplace To Connect Buyers and Suppliers Worldwide

The search engine for industrial and technical buyers and international directory for the manufacturing community IndustrialCOOP.com, has launched a new Web site to match manufacturers of all kinds of bearings with engineers and other industry buyers

/24-7PressRelease/ - WESTBORO, MA, July 20, 2008 - IndustrialCOOP, a division of US-based Industrial Leaders Group, announced last night the launch of a new B2B marketplace for companies in the market to buy or supply bearings and other drive components. According to Maria Santos, spokeswoman for the company, the marketplace is designed as a social networking forum for the site's industrial classifieds section which enables users to post and explore offers for all kinds of bearings in a wide range of sizes and materials at <http://www.industrialsaver.com/classifieds/>.

The types of bearings available on the site include ball, roller, needle bearings, spherical, miniature, stainless steel bearings, titanium, flange-mounted, thrust, angular bearings, radial ball, magnetic, spherical plain, bronze, needle roller, over-sized bearings, precision, babbit, ball screw support bearings, cylindrical roller, angular contact, copper, cast iron, deep groove and custom-made bearings constructed in various metals, rubber and plastic materials. Manufacturers, distributors, exporters and other suppliers of bearings are able to include their company and product line on the site at <http://www.WorldwideIndustrialMarketplace.com/freelisting.html>.

"IndustrialCOOP includes a broad variety of detailed offerings for all kinds of bearings in metric and inch sizes from manufacturers and suppliers worldwide," says Santos. She added, "Whether a company needs bearings for their manufacturing machinery, heavy equipment, conveyor system, power tools, hydraulics or virtually any other application, IndustrialCOOP can connect these companies and professionals with suitable suppliers in local, national and foreign markets."

According to Santos, in addition to the new bearings marketplace, IndustrialCOOP's search engine indexes a number of regionally-targeted bearings directories from on-line publishers such as ForeignTRADEX, Worldwide Industrial, IndustrialMRO, ArriveNEWS, IndustrialLeaders.com and dozens of others. The site's North American bearings directory is located at <http://www.industrialleaders.com/listings/bearings.html> which includes offerings primarily from manufactures and distributors based in or serving the United States, Canada and Mexico.
