NYC Family Law Attorney Tracey A. Bloodsaw adds New Tools and Features to Website

NYC Family Law Attorney - Tracey A. Bloodsaw, attends American Bar Association's Joint Conference On Children & The Law

/24-7PressRelease/ - ASTORIA, NY, July 23, 2008 - Tracey A. Bloodsaw (<http://www.traceyabloodsaw.com>), a well-known and experienced attorney specializing in family law, divorce and criminal law, has made recent changes to her website. The changes include many new tools and features aimed at making things for first time and returning visitors as easy as they can get.

Ms. Bloodsaw, who practices in both New York and New Jersey, has been practicing family law for more than 10 years. She is determined to make her website as insightful, resourceful and user-friendly as possible. The attorney is always researching ideas and concepts to add to the site so that visitors can find as much as information on family law issues as possible.

"So many of my clients who find me on the Internet comment on how informative my site is. One client recently commended me on providing a sort of one-stop shop for legal information", says Ms. Bloodsaw. "This only encourages me to stay on course with my determination to make my site the "go-to" site for all of your family law issues or question. Many people facing legal woes are frustrated, confused and are often unable to get the guidance they need. This is my effort to assuage many of their concerns, while getting a handle on their case".

A new email newsletter signup, "Tip of the Week" and web forms have all recently been added to the site. All of these tools serve to provide updates and current developments in the law, and help the New York Lawyer establish her efficiency while providing her services.

About Tracey A. Bloodsaw:
