So You Want To Be Married ... New Book Offers Information and Guidance

Kurtz provides in-depth understanding of the do's and don'ts of finding the right mate. Gerrie Kurtz and her husband, Claude, have a thriving married couples ministry, and she also ministers to women of all ages and categories.

/24-7PressRelease/ - ATLANTA, GA, July 23, 2008 -- Author and businesswoman Gerrie Kurtz offers step-by-step instructions on how women can write a prayerful Letter of Specifics, as a point-of-contact, to Father God and be blessed with a godly husband. When women read this book, they will also learn how to prevent or stop their husbands or prospective from cheating on them or even thinking about it. The answers to so many marital and relationship problems are in her book "Marriage Is Not A Cure All And That's For Sure Y'All (published by XulonPress - https://www.xulonpress.com/book\_detail.php?id=5582 ). Kurtz provides in-depth understanding of the do's and don'ts of finding the right mate. Gerrie Kurtz and her husband, Claude, have a thriving married couples ministry, and she also ministers to women of all ages and categories. Some of her work has been published for which she has received writing awards. Her many years of experience in Christ, over thirty-five years, and years of ministering to a diversity of people of all walks of life have qualified and equipped her with the expertise she needs to write books that are nurturing, enlightening, and sprinkled throughout with wisdom, knowledge, humor, and good, old, common sense that have enhanced marriages and relationships of people everywhere.

Kurtz currently lives in College Park, GA with her husband. XulonPress is the premier book publisher (<http://www.xulonpress.com/>) for emerging, self-published authors. For more information, please visit <http://www.xulonpress.com/>. Keywords: XulonPress, Marriage, Cure
