Industrial Leaders Group To Provide Open RFQs For Manufacturers Worldwide

Industrial Leaders, an on-line manufacturing marketplace and international publisher of industrial supply directories for engineers will provide live request-for-quote's (RFQs) to its members and visitors of IndustrialLeaders.com.

/24-7PressRelease/ - BOSTON, MA, July 25, 2008 - Industrial Leaders, the American Industrial Marketplace located at <http://www.IndustrialLeaders.com> for U.S. and international suppliers and buyers of industrial goods announced today it will feature on its Web site open RFQ's from engineers and other sourcing professionals seeking all kinds of industrial supplies, equipment and machinery in North American, Central and South American as well as several European and Asian countries.

According to Conrad Bailey, spokesperson for the company, the site will provide live RFQ's from buyers through its network of Web sites designed for engineers, MRO professionals and other mechanical and technical buyers located in dozens of countries, primarily but not limited to the United States, Canada, United Kingdom, Australia, Germany, India and China. Bailey said companies seeking industrial products will be able to submit a detailed RFQ to hundreds of qualified suppliers in local, national or international markets.

"Being able to offer quality RFQ's for industrial equipment, materials and contract manufacturing services allows all Web sites in the Industrial Leaders Group and the Buy American network (<http://www.IndustrialLeaders.com/reviews>) to provide a more valuable service to the manufacturing community," says Bailey. He added, "Whether a company is sourcing for industrial design, machining, molding, contract manufacturing services or virtually any type of tool, machine, part or other product, they'll find a number of live request-for-quotes through the site as well as other business opportunities."

According to Bailey, qualified suppliers of industrial goods and services, including contract manufacturers are able to register on the Industrial Leaders Group (ILG) website at <http://www.WorldwideIndustrialMarketplace.com/freelisting.html> free of charge. The site serves primarily North American manufacturers, engineers and industry professionals but international industrial buyers with open RFQs and foreign suppliers worldwide of industrial goods and services are able to participate as well.
