Edward J. Husa Inducted into Cambridge Who's Who Executive, Professional and Entrepreneurial Registry

One of his proudest achievements was controlling and automating environmental chambers, including retrofitting waffle irons for epoxy curing.

GLENDALE HEIGHTS, IL, October 4, 2008 /Cambridge Who's Who/ -- Edward J. Husa, Independent Consultant and Contractor, has been recognized by Cambridge Who's Who for showing dedication, leadership and excellence in all aspects of technical solutions.

With a concentration in the financial and telecommunications industries, Mr. Husa has more than four years of professional experience and has honed his skills in hardware interfacing and programming as well as rapid deployment of custom solutions. His responsibilities as an independent consultant include training on system operations, assuring quality control and developing processes and interfaces to hardware using Java and .Net in a Windows and Linux environment. One of his proudest achievements was controlling and automating environmental chambers, including retrofitting waffle irons for epoxy curing.

Having a reputation for optimization of growth and profitability, Mr. Husa's most recent project was at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, where he oversaw stress testing of exchange programs and the creation of the test apparatuses. He has also contracted with AT&T Labs, Stratos Lightwave, Motorola and ESignal. He also has hands-on experience working on large-scale backend systems. Mr. Husa maintains a consistent level of success due to his hard work and honesty.

Mr. Husa graduated Summa Cum Laude from DeVry University with a Bachelor's Degree in Computer Engineering Technology in 2005. He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, Mu Alpha Theta and Tau Alpha Pi. He volunteers for the local school districts and supports the American Veterans and Goodwill Industries International. Mr. Husa intends to maintain a continuous growth in his profession.
