Looking for commercial property? Take the Commercial Route!

Finding a good commercial property search website has always been difficult, but Commercial Route could be about to make life a lot easier.

LUTON, UK, October 04, 2008 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Commercial Route launched a brand new version of their website this week. Having changed the website to better suit the visitors and commercial agents, Commercial Route now provides the most simple and easy to navigate commercial property search website for the industry. They have also improved the unique crawler technology which allows commercial agents to have all of their properties listed automatically by the Commercial Route team.

"With the website listing over 80,000 commercial properties across the UK, it is important to listen to what our site visitors and the commercial agents want from Commercial Route. As a web-based company we need to be constantly evolving and provide a service that is constantly improving. All of the feedback that we have had about the new site has been very positive, and is a clear indicator that we will always look at ways to better ourselves," said Rick Wilmott, director.

Commercial property search in the UK is more important now than ever before, and Commercial Route aims to provide a solution for agents looking to sell and lease commercial property.

"The market conditions are tough at the moment; there is no question about that. What is important to remember though, is that businesses still need to look for premises and agents still need to market their commercial properties as much as they can. At Commercial Route we are providing an affordable solution for the commercial agents looking at ways to market their commercial properties," said Chris Johnson, director.

With commercial agents looking for more cost effective ways to market their property, it is easy to see why they would look to take the Commercial Route.
