SAP Business One Chicago, Atlanta VAR Newsflash: Training - Alba Spectrum

SAP B1 ERP and its MRP part are extremely flexible and ready for self discovery, you can do self implementation with pilot 1 SAP B1 Professional user license to minimize Accounting software selection risk and save on the SB1 consultant time cost.

NAPERVILLE, IL, October 05, 2008 /24-7PressRelease/ -- SAP B1 ERP and its MRP part are extremely flexible and ready for self discovery, you can do self implementation with pilot 1 SAP B1 Professional user license to minimize Accounting software selection risk and save on the SB1 consultant time cost. Regarding SAP Business One training, we recommend you to take first generic training from SAP training facility in Chicago or Atlanta and then when you begin to use the system either in pilot or even in production, you should order precise your business processes oriented training from local SAP Business One implementation partner or reseller. Let's review SB1 implementing questions:

1. Do I need customization or I will be OK with standard functionality in SB1? Interesting enough, but very large percentage of SAP B1 customers, who initially ordered customization (created for them in SAP Business One SDK and seamlessly integrated with user application) down the road of using the system, abandoned customized logic and instead found the way to do the same procedurally in standard modules, simply because SB1 is very flexible. This is one of the reasons, that we recommend you to order your company business processes oriented training and get SAP Business One consultant opinion on how you procedures should be implemented. We already described these procedures for rentals, transportation and logistics, shipping, warehouse management industries, service contracts, light manufacturing and production
2. Local Training vs. Web Sessions. If you are in Illinois, Georgia or South Carolina - you can enjoy our face-to-face local training. However if you are in USA country side, then you might feel underserved by local SB1 gurus - we will help you and train your SB1 users via web sessions and virtual meetings. About 70 percent of our ERP customers are located outside of the area of our driving reach, so we know what we are offering and this remote support and training option works
3. SAP Business One executive demos. If you are in ERP selection phase, you probably should request SB1 presentation. Please, simply email or call our office, you can fill our request quote form, see website info below
