Youth Turnout for Change in Washington DC: Voter Registration Celebration

VotebyVote will be a non-partisan voter registration celebration event at LOVE nightclub, admitting individuals 18 and up, FREE for individuals 21 and up before 11pm with a voter registration card.

Washington, DC, October 05, 2008 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Most would view the #1 nightclub in Washington DC as a scene for extensive party goers and nightlife. But not on October 11th. On this day at LOVE nightclub, a team of young entrepreneurs and entertainment professionals will join forces for one of the most anticipated voter registration celebrations in the nation's capital. The Over Achievers, one of the most successful entertainment marketing and promotion companies in Washington DC, will team up with the Northern Southerners - a dynamic duo that broke ground when they received sample clearance from Bruce Springsteen for their hit single "Blinded". These two powerhouses will unite for change alongside both presidential campaigns, sponsors and university Greek organizations for a one-night voter registration celebration.

VotebyVote will be a non-partisan voter registration celebration event at LOVE nightclub, admitting individuals 18 and up, FREE for individuals 21 and up before 11pm with a voter registration card. The initiative is to bring together political activist, corporate, entertainment and community involvement in one place for voters throughout the Washington DC Metro area. VotebyVote's stated mission is to "Motivate the next generation of voters to guarantee positive change for their own generation." This outreach event specifically targets the needs of the next generation, that being voters ages 18 through 35. It will allow voters to celebrate the power of their voter registration while opening up the opportunity to those who have not yet registered; thus leading to the increasing possibility for an unprecedented youth turnout in the 2008 election.
