Mark Maupin Hosts the Internet Marketing Convention in Romulus, Michigan with a Special Guest, CPA and Income Tax Expert, Markwei Boye

Participants will learn how to create passive income using the internet - Markwei Boye will discuss IRS issues and creative business deductions

DETROIT, MI, October 08, 2008 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Internet marketing is the most popular way to advertise your business today. Mark Maupin will be hosting the Internet Marketing Convention the weekend of October 11 and 12, in Romulus. Mark has arranged to have the top internet marketing experts in the US speak at this two day event.

Markwei Boye, CPA and income tax advisor will speak to participants to prepare them for income tax planning when they become successful as a result of all they learn at this conference. "I've learned more from Markwei in a 30 minute meeting than I have by attending a weekend boot-camp," said Mark Maupin. "He prepared my income tax return for 2007 and the bottom line wasn't nearly as painful as I expected it to be."

Markwei Boye will cover creative (and legal) ways to maximize business deductions and how to bullet-proof tax returns from the IRS. "What the IRS doesn't tell you is how to beat them at their own game," says Markwei. "I will explain creative ways to repay IRS debt for those who owe money."

Markwei Boye has earned multiple business and accounting degrees and holds several licenses, including an Enrolled Agent Designation, a specialized license earned by individuals who have passed a rigorous examination administered by the IRS and has shown technical competency in all levels of federal taxation.

The two-day internet conference takes place Saturday, October 11th and Sunday, October 12th at the Marriott near Detroit Metro Airport; 30559 Flynn Dr; Romulus, MI 48174. Register now at <http://www.megaeveningevent.com/2dayevent/>
