InGenesis Medical Staffing Web Site Wins IABC Silver Quill Business Communications Award

Silver Quill Awards are presented annually by IABC within a large geographic region to recognize excellence in communication.

SAN ANTONIA, TX, October 09, 2008 /24-7PressRelease/ -- InGenesis Medical Staffing won a Silver Quill Award in the prestigious 2008 Silver Quill communications contest sponsored by the International Association of Business Communicators, Southern Region (IABC/Southern Region).

The company's recently developed Web site, InGenesis.org, received an Award of Merit in the Internet/ Intranet category at an awards ceremony held September 29 in Denver, Colorado. IABC recognized it as a model of excellence in employee communications, and extolled its various professional elements (e.g., content, graphics, functionality, alignment with business goals).

"It's truly an honor for our medical staffing Web site to win a prestigious Silver Quill award," says InGenesis President/CEO Veronica Edwards. "Earlier this year it won two Bronze Quill awards at the regional level in Texas, so this award further validates the relevancy and professionalism of our online communications. This Web site is just one of the many channels InGenesis uses daily to communicate with hundreds of healthcare employees nationwide as well as prospective clients."

Silver Quill Awards are presented annually by IABC within a large geographic region to recognize excellence in communication. As in previous years, the dozens of judges who reviewed entries for the 2008 IABC/Southern Region Silver Quill competition were all seasoned business communicators from IABC chapters in multiple states.

The IABC/Southern Region is comprised of 27 IABC chapters with members in 15 countries and territories, including the Caribbean and Trinidad and Tobago chapters. Its 14 U.S. chapters are in Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas. Globally, IABC communicators share ideas and best practices about employee communication, marketing, branding and measurement through 100 chapters located in over 70 nations.
