More Freedom for 'Big and Tall' Travelers

Company makes it more comfortable for clients of all shapes and sizes

MONTREAL, CANADA, October 11, 2008 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Big And Tall Travel was created by Charles Brossman, who, originally from Fort Smith, Arkansas, is a graduate of Cornell University's Certified Corporate Travel Executive Program. Having managed travel budgets and projects for Fortune 500 companies, booking and managing travel for individuals or companies is where he started his career, and is what he loves to do. Charles was able to recognize the needs of big and tall travelers. He understands that traveling today can be uncomfortable and challenging, and while many people feel they can book their own travel online, they lose the benefit of additional savings, product knowledge, additional perks and benefits, and that they would not otherwise get while spending their valuable time on research. After considerable research, Charles contracted Logobee, Inc. to do his logo design and his web design. His goal was to make sure that both the logo design and the website design have a consumer friendly feeling that appropriately attracts his target market with style and substance.
