FAU partners with Boca's PC Professor

FAU collaborates with popular computer school to strengthen IT options

BOCA RATON, FL, October 12, 2008 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Florida Atlantic University's Executive Continuing Education department has partnered with South Florida's premier computer training provider, PC Professor. The new alliance will to offer a wide array of Technical classes and certification courses.

Certificate programs in Systems Engineering, Database programming, and Software Development are available as well as training in popular software programs such as Microsoft Project, Adobe PhotoShop, Flash, Dreamweaver, Quickbooks and more.

Classes are in state of the art facilities and taught by certified instructors who have years of real-life experience and a talent for teaching. Plus, class sizes are kept small so you get the personalized attention you need to develop your skills. By partnering with PC Professor, the Continuing Education department can stay nimble in the fast moving IT industry.

Financial aid is available through Sallie Mae and other lenders for those who qualify. If you have served in the armed services in the last ten years, you may be eligible for Veterans benefits and we'll even help you apply. We can even offer financing options to those with or without credit.

Students will be offered job-placement assistance so they can put your training and certification to good use. "Our goal is to give you the training, skills, and confidence to have a career in Information Technology or to use your computer skills in your chosen profession," said Howard Fellman, the School's Founder.

So contact us today and start on your path to learning skills that will give you a solid career for your future. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics: Computer positions will continue to rise despite the current economic slowdown.
