BEIJING, CHINA, October 15, 2008 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Essential Interiors are set to be the talk of the show, wowing the designer and producers with their stunning handmade wall art contribution. Sascha Kindred, the swimming Paralympic gold medallist, nominates his mother for this surprise 'eco theme' makeover - coming soon to ITV...

Essential Interiors are kindly donating their 'Africa' Wall Disc, a stunning piece of handmade wood wall decor, to 60 Minute Makeover for this eco eccentric episode. Sascha Kindred's mother is an eco activist and promotes recycling and eco lifestyles, hence the 'Go Green' theme. Essential Interiors offer a huge and varied range of environmentally friendly furniture and accessories online at www.essentialinteriors.co.uk. Their visually stunning and unique collections are sourced from all over the world; including, Australia, Thailand and The Philippines. The 'Africa' Wall Disc is one of Essentials' latest and greatest finds. Handcrafted from palm twig and inlaid by hand in The Philippines; this wood wall sculpture is available at a grand 122cm diameter.

What's so great about the 'Africa' Wall Disc is that it has been made exclusively in The Philippines; there are only ever 8 pieces in the UK at one time. All materials used in the production have been ethically sourced from economic, social and environmental perspectives. They are made from a variety of sustainable natural materials. And from a further unique selling point, no two items will ever quite be the same...

So beautifully designed; the 'Africa' Disc is truly exceptional and Essential Interiors is extremely excited about all the hype it's receiving.
