Career Moves Group Launches New Publishing Division

Publishing Moves is a brand new expert division that has just established and is set to take great quality recruitment to an advanced grade right across the publishing sector.

LONDON, UK, October 16, 2008 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Publishing Moves is a new specialist division that has just launched and is set to take high-quality recruitment to a new level right across the publishing sector.

How? Our expert team have extensive experience of the publishing industry, know what the business is about and what it takes to seek out the very best people for roles at all levels " from support and admin through to editorial, marketing, PR, production, sales and more. Combined with proven ability to deliver real support to publishing clients it's a case of "new name, same commitment."

Our clients expect nothing less. In an industry as progressive and creative as publishing our clients need to rely on an honest commitment to filling vacancies for publishing jobs with individuals who are dedicated and inspired by publishing. We've always gone the extra mile to ensure our candidates and clients are paired in relationships built to last.

The team's track record speaks for itself as does the fact that businesses of all sizes across all sectors of publishing choose Publishing Moves as their recruitment partner. What's more, they are a preferred supplier for some of the UK's leading names.
